Nassau County is embarking on a corridor design study of the 13 miles of A1A/SR200 from Police Lodge Road to the Shave Bridge. This section of A1A/SR200 is being called the Timber to Tides Trail.

The goals of the Timber to Tides study are to transform SR 200/A1A into a place that functions not just as a major roadway, but a place that provides different opportunities for living and working, and creates a sense of place in Nassau County based on our community's history, character, and quality of life.

The study will help inform changes to the County's Comprehensive Plan and Land Development Code. Citizen interests and input are very important to the project. We look forward to hearing from you!

The County is also having a Historic Resource survey completed. We'd love to learn more about the historic places that are important to you and you feel should be documented! Come to the event or reach us at the contact info below.
